

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to a treatment regimen for the treatment of breast cancer wherein estrogen antagonist (anti-estrogen) therapy is followed by therapy with an estrogen depleting agent prior to disease progression.